ANSWER KEY

A. LISTENING

1

1. The main reason is that the collection frequency is not often enough; they think the bins should be collected every week instead of every two weeks.
2. They grow a lot of their own food and try to buy products with minimal packaging (or they give away unused books/clothes to charity shops).
3. They have a friendly/joking relationship. The dustmen like the speaker because they sort their recycling properly.
4. It takes too much time/ages, and it is frustrating to know which items the council accepts and to read the packaging details.
5. Upcycling is taking something you would normally throw away or recycle and turning it into a new, different item (or a higher-value item). For example, they made jars into candle holders by painting them
